

ABSTRACT

According to one embodiment a method is disclosed. The method includes receiving a string of data symbols, and compressing the string of symbols into a compressed data block having a plurality of compressed symbols and dictionary elements. The compressed data block has a fixed offset and the symbols and dictionary elements have a fixed length.